INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE

Range of Application: This chest protector is designed for use by females to lessen injury from contact to the chest and breasts in fencing, karate, martial arts and combat sports. To choose the correct levels of performance for protective equipment in martial arts please refer to the rules of your national federation. We strictly recommend to only use martial arts protective equipment of the highest level of performance (EN 13277 parts 1-7). This chest protector meets EN 13277-6: 2003.

Designed to lessen injury from contact in the area of the chest shown below.

To find the correct size of your chest protector:

First, measure chest size under the bust, then measure chest size around bust and select correct protector and cover size referring to the size table. Breasts should fill the chest protector cups. If cup size of chest protector is too large, go down one size, and if too small, go up one size. The chest protector should be snug, yet comfortable on the body and be a tight fit within the appropriately sized cover (bra top).

The zones of protection:

Can be seen from the appropriate figure in these user instructions.

Wearing your chest protector:

To correctly wear your chest protector, place the cover (bra top) on the body first, then insert the chest guard into the specially formed pocket at the opening at the bottom of the cover between the two layers of textile. The ends of the guard must fit firmly into the pockets at each side of the cover. Remove the guard from the cover as soon as possible after activity to further assist body cooling.

Warnings and inspection:

Martial arts and combat sports including Karate in which body contact by the opponent occurs, is by its nature dangerous. Protective clothing and equipment for martial arts is intended as far as possible to prevent injuries or in the worst cases to reduce the severity of injuries. No protective equipment can offer full protection against injury.

Protective equipment must not be changed or manipulated. Care instructions must be respected. Non-respect of these instructions can reduce the level of protection of this product. Carefully inspect chest protector at regular intervals to make sure that no mechanical defect (like abrasion, holes, cracks) have occurred. If this has happened, the product may no longer be used. Inspection of the cover should be made regularly for cuts, torn threads or excessive stretch, and the cover replaced if in doubt. Chest protector relies on the tight fit of the cover to hold the guard securely in place over the breasts.

Caring and Storing Instructions:

The chest protector should only be cleaned with water under 30 degrees Celsius and mild detergent using a cloth. Do not expose chest protector to water hotter than 30 degrees Celsius, strong cleaning chemicals, solvents or direct sunlight. Chest protector could be damaged or change shape under any of these conditions. Cover can be washed by hand at 30°C in a mild detergent. Dry naturally. To be stored in a cool and dry place without direct light exposure. This product contains no substances which are known or are suspected of causing any adverse health effect. By its intended usage there is no adverse influence on the hygiene of the user.

Materials of construction:

Chest protector: LDPE plastic, elastic 70% nylon/ 30% elastane. Cover (bra top) outer fabric 81% nylon, 19% spandex, mesh fabric 74% nylon 26% spandex.
